Eight Former Carroll Men Die In The Service Of Their Country

There are eight gold stars on the John Carroll Service Honor Roll; eight stars that signify that eight Carroll men have died in the services of their country in World War II. These eight have made the supreme sacrifice. Truly, of them it can be said that they have died that their cause might live.

Corporal J. W. Callahan, United States Marine Corps, attended John Carroll in 1933 and 1939, and met his death in a military vehicle accident at the Naval Armory Depot, Lake Denmark, Dover, N.J.

Lieutenant David R. Fedder was killed in an airplane crash near Alamogordo, New Mexico, on January 24, 1943. Only nineteen at the time of his death, he was one of the youngest commissioned officers from John Carroll. Lieut. Fedder enlisted in the United States Army Air Corps on January 6, 1942. At the time of the fatal plane crash he was stationed at Topeka, Kansas, anticipating assignment to duty overseas.

Captain J. P. Gavin graduated from Carroll in 1924. A member of the Army Medical Corps, Captain Gavin met death in the service in February, 1943.

Ensign William J. Halloran died "in the performance of his duty and in the service of his country" at Pearl Harbor on a day that is Ensign Stanton Heater, United States Navy, attended Carroll in 1934 and 1935. Ensign Heater was gunnery officer on the oil tanker Indian Arrow, and met death when the vessel was torpedoed in January, 1942.

Frequently rumor has it that one or other of our friends has met his death, and our hearts feel the parting, as though he has already gone. Then our prayers rise to Heaven for his soul. But rumor fades and fact proves that our sorrow has been premature. With mixed emotions we look for the official announcement hoping that the supreme sacrifice has not been asked as yet from those near to us.

These Carroll men have given their lives to their country; other Carroll servicemen undoubtedly will make the supreme sacrifice before peace reigns once again in the world. To those who have died and will die, let us devote a daily prayer. We have loved them in life, let us not forget them in death.

Navy Coming To John Carroll; 400 Men Will Train Here

The Very Reverend Thomas J. Donnelly, S.J., Carroll's president, has received an official communication from the Navy Department, Bureau of Naval Personnel, confirming the selection of Carroll as a site for Naval training under the new Navy College Training Program. In a letter from Rear Admiral L. E. Denfeld, assistant chief of the Bureau of Naval Personnel in Washington, Father Donnelly was informed that a minimum of 400 apprentice seamen will be assigned to Carroll in July. This quota will be increased as soon as adequate housing facilities can be made available.

Carroll Service Honor Roll Now Has 846 Names

On Sunday, December 6, 1942, the eve of the anniversary of Pearl Harbor, the John Carroll Service Honor Roll was formally dedicated. At that time, five months ago, there were 489 names listed. At the present, thanks to the untiring efforts of the Rev. Peter L. Decker, S. J., who is in charge of keeping track of Carroll's Servicemen, the roll has grown until it now has a total of 846 names. An extra wing was added some time ago when it became evident that the original board would not be nearly sufficient to contain all the names of Carroll men in Service. This is now almost completely filled, and it is believed that it will soon be necessary to secure another wing.

Earlier in the year, a Navy officer made an inspection tour of Carroll in order to determine the feasibility of the Navy's making use of the school's facilities. At that time, no formal decisions were made, although the inspecting officer expressed satisfaction with the setup at Carroll. The formal confirmation of Carroll's acceptance came through the Joint Committee for the Selection of Non-Federal Educational Institutions, of which Dr. E. C. Elliott is chairman.

At present, plans are being completed for housing the majority of Carroll's contingent of bluejackets in Bernet Hall. Work is being rushed to completion on the faculty building, parts of which have long been unfinished. It is expected that when this work is done, many of the Navy men will be quartered there.

The Navy men who are quartered at Carroll will receive the pay and wear the uniform of apprentice seamen, and will be furnished all supplies and subsistence. The curriculum is expected to require a minimum of at least twenty hours of lectures and labs, with the emphasis on mathematics, physics, history, engineering drawing, chemistry, and English. Naval officers will reside at Carroll to instruct the men in naval etiquette, physical education, and drill; and to enforce navy discipline.

According to the most recent information from the Navy, the V-12 program will allow students to attend college anywhere from four months to four years, according to the branch of the Navy which they are in. Thus, the course for medical, and dental officers, will be twelve 16 week periods, engineering specialists officers eight sixteen week terms, engineering for general duty six 16 week terms, deck and marine line officers four 16 week terms, and aviators two 16 week terms. The new program make special provision for pre-dental and pre-medical students, and will in time include the old V-1, V-5, and Y-7 programs.

At present, the status of civilian students at Carroll is rather uncertain, although it is thought that they will be allowed to continue with their course of study. Faculty members are hampered in their planning of future schedules of courses to be offered by the fact that they are uncertain as to what the Navy will require. More definite information on naval requirements is expected in the near future.

A Lasting Peace

"...that these dead shall not have died in vain." These words, uttered by Lincoln at Gettysburg, true then, as true now, are a precise expression of a thought which is much in our minds at present. As we see our friends go—reflect on the possibility of their not returning, we are apprehensive, lest those who do not return shall have given their lives in vain. We can tolerate the loss of life during this war, but only if there is some good to come of that loss. Christian ethics demand that, if this war is to be morally justified, we must direct its strategy toward a just and lasting peace.

At the present, defeating the enemy is, and should be, our major objective. As time gives us truer perspective, however, we will see that it is not sufficient that we merely defeat the enemy. We must recognize the common bond which exists between all nations—brotherhood in the human race. We must guard against a return to the old "dog eat dog" philosophy of imperialism; a philosophy which, more than any other one factor is a breeder of modern war.

The immediate and practical problem which confronts us is how to stimulate an awareness of this common bond between all men. Common interest can be aroused only by common action. A world organization with powers to act seems to be the only answer. None of us can forget that such an organization has already failed, and the United States was not the least cause of that failure. We cannot allow it to fail again. We must have a peace which materially speaking, will provide for an equal distribution of power and wealth among all nations and equality among the races; and, morally speaking, will provide justice and freedom for all.

Communism

We owe a great debt to the Russians. In June 1941 the British were just managing to hold Rommel out of Egypt; British forces in the Middle East were critically weakened by losses in Greece and Crete; the new armies in Britain were only just getting the material necessary to enable them to stand up to invasion; and the resources of the British Navy were stretched out all over the world. If the Russians had not held, the Germans could have swung part of their armies down and endangered the Middle East. German armored divisions were pinned down in Russia which otherwise might have been hurled through Turkey to assist Rommel. The Nazi horde which threatened to engulf Europe and leave the United States alone in the fight against Facism was stopped by the Russians.

We owe a great debt to the Russians; but, we mustn't let our gratitude take the form of sympathy toward the Russian philosophy of government. There is a notion which is fast gaining popularity with the American people and the American press that Communism must be an effective form of government if a communistic nation can have such brilliant military success when so many others have failed. Public opinion, always a great force in American national life, is swinging from one extreme to the other. Where all things Russian were once held in open contempt, Russian Communism is now lauded as a producer of a superior form of state.

The fallacy in this argument should be evident. The Russian nation, 300 million strong, is predominantly agricultural. Russian peasants are bound to the soil by a bond which transcends politics. The Russian peasant wants only to be allowed to live and die on his little plot of land which he believes is his heritage. Rather than surrender to the invader, he will stand and fight and die and become a part of that very soil he loves so well.

We owe a great debt to the Russians for the job they have done and are doing. Russia deserves all the aid we can give her; she's an invaluable ally in our fight against Facism. No real American, however, can be sympathetic toward a form of government which is antipathetic to our own. Communism is anti-Christian. Communism has always been a bitter foe of the Church. We must guard against the dangerous infiltration into America of pro-communistic feeling.

LETTERS FROM THE BATTLING BLUE STREAKS

SERVICE COLUMN

NEWS ABOUT THE SERVICEMEN OF J. C. U.

Every once in a while we get a letter from a Carroll service man which makes us think—really brings the war close to home. When we realize that someone we knew at school, someone who did much the same things we are doing at Carroll went to the same class, knew the same Profs, yes, and grieved about the same things (really loved the place)—when we realize that this same person, much like ourselves, is thousands of miles away, fighting on some Pacific Island, it brings the war very close to home.

We have a letter which we think is good, which we are going to pass along to you. We like it because we think it's typical of all letters from Carroll service men—friendly, humorous in some places, and yet, sincere enough to let us know that the writer is conscious of the fact that war is a serious business.

Sheridan In Pacific Area

4-6-43

Greetings from USAFISPA,

If the above title needs a little explaining, it stands for United States Armed Forces in South Pacific Area.

I just received several copies of the Carroll News and over here they were indeed a very welcomed sight.

Sorry for not writing sooner, but events caused several delays in letting the boys at Carroll know that even over in this part of the world they have heard of the Blue Streaks of Cleveland fame. I ran into several lads who hail from Pa. and our old rivals St. Francis. Also met several boys who knew the Duffy brothers and "Rube" Davis of several years back.

Glad to hear that the Blue Streaks had a good season on the hardwood. Things are not bad over here at this particular island; they could be a lot worse.

Received a letter from Fr. Cronin the other day and I'll get busy and answer the same.

Do the boys still wolf all the co-eds at Notre Dame, on the Cedar Avenue streetcar? I know one over there that had better not be wolfed by those Carroll boys or else they'll be looking down the business end of Chicago's gift to this war, a sub-thompson .45 caliber machine gun. I would give a years pay to be back at even convo for one day. Don't forget to let the other boys hear from the old school. The school paper is by far the best ever, and when you get time, drop me a letter.

Give my regards to all at Carroll and I sincerely hope that someday we can have a big reunion of all service men. Until later.

I remain,
Ed Sheridan

Letter From Africa

The Pacific isn't the only war zone in which Carroll men are fighting. We have a letter from Sgt. Walter A. Pleasnick, who is stationed "someplace in Africa." Sgt. Pleasnick writes to The Very Rev. Thomas J. Donnelly, S. J.

Some Place in Africa
Sunday—12:30 p.m.
March 21, 1943

Dear Father Donnelly:

Recently I received an envelope post marked December 1942, which contained a L'Agenda of former students of John Carroll University now serving in the Armed Forces.

I take this opportunity to show my appreciation. My sincere thanks to the sponsors of this fine publication.

I am unable to mention my experiences since leaving the States for military reasons and obligations although I am permitted to mention my presence on African soil.

There is a most difficult job to be done, and, I assure you, this task will be done in an American way.

I am well, happy, and my morale is great.

Yours truly,
Sgt. Pleasnick

Captain Mielinger Writes

April 26, 1943

Dear Editor:

I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation and thanks for being placed on your mailing list for the "Carroll News" and other publications from the school. It gives me great pleasure to read of the events taking place at my old alma mater. I see that the old Carroll Spirit lives on and it does my heart good to see that the men are still full of vim, vigor and vitality.

The Jesuits are still giving the students the benefit of their experiences and studies, consequently, instilling in the student's minds the basic fundamentals of living a good life thus enabling the men to fight for what they think is right in this world today.

I note particularly that the men of Carroll possess great initiative and determination, never faltering when the going gets tough. From personal experiences gained after leaving school I find that philosophy and religion are the greatest assets men can have in our world today. I would advise every man in school today to pay particular attention to these two subjects. This is the basis upon which they will govern their lives and upon this rests their entire future, whether they will be a success or a failure.

At present I am the supervisor of the Administration, Supply and Clerical Schools, having eleven schools under my jurisdiction. In these schools we attempt to teach the men all administration pertaining to the army and all supply functions of the Quartermaster Corp. In addition to that we teach the men shorthand and typing thus equipping the men to go out into the field to perform efficiently the functions of the Quartermaster Corp; which is to house, feed and equip all troops. This, in my estimation, is one of the most difficult jobs that any branch of the Service has to perform and you undoubtedly know of Rommel's statement in his desert campaign against the Allies in which he said that it was a tactician's paradise but the quartermaster's hell. This has been proven in practically all engagements to date. Unless the quartermaster performs its job efficiently and on time, the troops cannot fight, and hope to win without gasoline, bullets, food, etc. It is an important and great branch of the Service to be in.

Thanking you for the consideration you have shown. I remain

Yours truly
John S. Mielinger
Captain, QMC

On the lighter side, we have a letter from Jack Turowski, who reports that he has completed primary and secondary courses in Civilian Pilot Training, and is now stationed at Ithaca, New York, where he is taking the cross country course which will lead to work as a pilot in the Ferry Command. Cadet Turowski tells us, "The work is really interesting, but fellows, frankly it doesn't compare with Biology." Jack closes with, "I'll see you all in China or somewhere, one of these fine days."

Lieutenant S. F. Legan, USMC, writes that he has classes 7:30 to 9:00, five days a week, studying tactics. S. F. says that he is practicing night raids in the beautiful Potomac River (temperature around 15 degrees.)

Joe Wolff At Chicago

Joe Wolff, now a midshipman at Chicago, writes that everything is under control where he is stationed. Joe says, "This morning I was up at 4:00 a.m. and will retire at 10:30 p.m. The grind is really tough." If Joe does half as well at Chicago as he did at Carroll, he won't have any trouble.

Pfc. A. E. Liptak, Jr. writes from Texas that he just took a three hour exam for Army Specialized Training School, which is a twelve week course, used to prepare men for O.C.S. Good Luck, Pfc. Liptak, and we hope you make it.

Tom Meagher writes that he is in the 54th Ferrying Squadron, based in Homestead, Florida; which is thirty miles south of Miami, on the Atlantic Ocean. Tom is in the Airplane Engineer's Office, flight operations branch at the air base. He reports that he and his wife are very proud of their newly arrived seven pound baby son, and Tom asks: Would it be too early to enroll the boy at Carroll?

We have a letter from Pvt. George Elliott, former Military Editor of The Carroll News and originator of this column. George is stationed at Camp Patrick Henry, Newport-News, Virginia where he is taking his basic training. George writes that he thinks army life is wonderful, as he has just heard that a large contingent of WAAC's will arrive at Camp Patrick Henry in the next week.

News Of ERC's

Of the almost eighty-five Army Enlisted Reservists who were called from Carroll to active duty a short while ago several of the boys are still at Camp Perry. We note in Lief Mapleton's column in the Cleveland News that the crowd at Perry includes Pvt. Tony Palermo, who is constantly cracking wise and tap-dancing for his barracks-mates, Pvts. Jim McGorray, Dan McConnell, Dick Ranke, and Pat Waldron; Pvts. Chuck Mayer and Karl Vanis shoveling coal like old hands ... Pvts. Bob Persche and Jack McGervey digging deep fence post holes ... Pvts. Bob and Joe Baron confusing the corporals by not having the right brother appear at the right time ... Pvts. Tom Burlage and Jim Donnelly writing long letters to two Charity Hospital nurses ... Pvt. Bill Dempsey smoothing wrinkles out of his bed all morning ... and Pvt. Eddie O'Connor, at last finding his vocation in life (They've got him layin concrete).

Pvt. James Tolle, also an ERC at Perry, writes that, "There are so many fellows from Carroll here that we could almost call the place Camp Carroll instead of Camp Perry." Jim goes on to say, though, that "a few of the J.C.U. reserves were shipped out yesterday and today."

From last reports reaching us, Toledo ERC's Bill Comte and Ed McCormick are still at Perry, while Bob Gruhler is in Camp Knox.

Lt. John Schoen, who has just received a boost in rank, has gone back to Camp Davis where he will teach at the A.A.A. school.

We hear from Notre Dame that midshipmen Bob Wilson, Ray Hodous, Al Balocca, Tony Nicolai, Jack Malone, Bob Gorman, Bruce Thompson, Frank Sullivan, Jack Sweeney and Ed Kilrain will be commissioned Ensign's in May.

AIR VIEW OF THE CAMPUS AND BUILDINGS OF JOHN CARROLL U.

Carroll Collects Material On Catholic War Effort

by Dr. Edward C. Reiley, Assistant Professor of History

About one year ago Governor Bricker came to the conclusion that the deeds of Ohioans in World War II must be recorded for posterity. He accordingly created the Ohio War History Commission to which he appointed a score of members to represent the commonwealth's religious, racial, and occupational viewpoints. Shortly thereafter John Carroll University was designated as the preliminary depository for materials relating to the Ohio Catholic war effort.

After a vigorous campaign among our religious institutions, carried on by Carroll's Department of History, diaries and letters of boys in the service and reports of patriotic activities of schools, hospitals, and parish clubs began to pour into the University. Here they are now being read, classified, and forwarded to the Ohio State Museum at Columbus where future generations of historians may learn to write of the self-sacrificing and heroic activities of present day Catholics.

At last the members of the Church of Rome have awakened to the fact that it is not sufficient to buy bonds, to give blood, and to hope and pray and die for victory; they now realize that they must preserve objective proof that they have done these things. Catholics have been giving their all for their native land ever since there has been an American Nation to support but, unfortunately, they have been remiss in saving documentary evidence to substantiate the fact. As a consequence they have encountered the charge of disloyalty in former crises and, to their chagrin, they have been unable to marshal any adequate defense. Learning from the bitter experiences of the past they now stand determined to build up an arsenal of material sufficient to stay the tongue of the most invidious critic.

John Carroll exults in the success of its operations in this field of martial endeavor as in all others it has entered and hopes for even greater achievements in the months to come. Already ranging in scope from Alaska to Iceland and from the South Seas to Africa, its historical collection is imposing. With the resolute co-operation of every student and alumnus, every faculty member and well-wisher, it cannot fail to erect a monument that will endure through the ages.

Obringer, Shaker Return To Carroll For Degrees

Bob Obringer and Mitch Shaker, members of the class of '43 who were called to active duty with the Navy, will return to Carroll to receive their diplomas at graduation exercises on May 9th. Both Obringer and Shaker are now midshipmen in the U.S. Navy, and have been stationed at Columbia University where they are training for their commissions. Both men were Mittinger Leaves Carroll; Becomes Production Mgr.

Mr. Eugene R. Mittinger is leaving his post as Registrar at John Carroll to become Production Manager at The Ohio Foundry. Mr. Mittinger, who received his A.B. and A.M. at Catholic University, has been at Carroll since 1927. During his sixteen years here, he has acted in several different capacities. Beginning in 1927 as an instructor in mathematics, he was later appointed director of publicity, still later took over the position of registrar, and at one time was moderator of The Carroll News.

Friendly, well liked by both students and fellow faculty members, Mr. Mittinger's ready smile and willingness to "stop and chat" have made him one of the most popular men at Carroll. Almost every student, at one time or another, has had occasion to ask his help straightening out some particularly knotty program mix-up. With his departure, Carroll is losing a fine mathematics instructor, one who has a natural teaching ability which enables him to keep in close contact with his classes.

We are all sorry to see Mr. Mittinger go. We are, however, glad that he is stepping into the important position which he is to fill, a position which he richly deserves.

Carroll Athletes Are Now Fighting For Uncle Sam

By Ed Cuneen

Carroll athletes, always hard fighting bunch to run up against, are maintaining their fighting spirit as they take an active part in the biggest contest on earth and the one with the highest stakes — WAR. Battling Bluestreaks are actively engaged in almost every branch of the U. S. Armed Forces, and, if the boys do their usual good job, Hitler and Hirohito had better look out!

The Carroll News Sports Staff has been on the alert for news concerning the whereabouts of former Carroll athletes, and, to date, the staff has been able to gather quite a bit of information about Blue Streaks in service.

Members of Carroll's championship hockey team recently heard from are Ensign George Otto, USNR, on sea duty; Ensign Gene Davis, also on sea duty; Lieut. Don Meyers of the Marines; Clem Rannigan, in naval air cadet training; Bill Higgins, apprentice seamen stationed at Great Lakes; and Matt Schneider, of the Army Air Corps.

Carroll has had, in past years, many outstanding tennis players. Their letters have dribbled into the News office from all over U.S. Lieut. Medard Nolan wrote from his post in the Signal Corp. Art Heffernan is now a Lieut. in Army Ordnance. Jack Miller is now strutting his stuff in the gold braid of an ensign. Bruce Thompson is doing fine up at Notre Dame, training for his commission in the Navy. Andy Kertis, former manager for last year's football team, has just left for Camp Breckenridge, Virginia. Andy is in the Medical Corps and may be sunning himself soon on foreign soil.

Kenny Kitchen, who attended Carroll a year or so back, is a Lieutenant in the Army Air Corp. Bob Yanke is a Naval Air Cadet, while that boy with the educated toe of the '41 varsity, Tom Kelley, was recently commissioned a Lieutenant in the Army. Pint-sized package of T.N.T., Nick Barille, is a private in the Quartermaster Corps. Bob Obringer, who left school recently, is a midshipman at Columbia U. Jerry Higgins is an air cadet, training at one of our southern colleges. Also with the same group are Bill Leahy, Joe Meere, Tom Meagher of '40, Paul Chisholm and Elroy "Retz" Retzloff.

"Cassie" Rutkowski is a private in the Army. Paul "Pipes" Ciolli recently left with the ERC's, as did his teammate "Ang" Consolo. "Rabbit" Smith is a navy air cadet at Iowa. He was stationed at Carroll for a while—remember? Another boy from last year's frosh team was "Jake" Connors. He's a private in the Marines now, and his buddies "Shamus" Kilbane and Jack Corrigan are both in the Army-temporarily as privates.

Lieutenant Frank Gaul is in the Navy physical service and was last reported at Norfolk, Va. Lieut. Ray McGorray former basketball star and frosh mentor, is seeing active duty in the army.

Ensign Jack Ennen, former manager, is in the Naval Reserve, while Bob McDermott is a midshipman training for a commission in New York.

Bill Young is one of Gene Tunney's best physical ed. instructors; he's a chief petty officer. Fred Rancourt is a private in the Army. Bill Jacoby has been cavorting around the country since leaving Carroll. He's now settled down as a radio mate, 3rd class, in N. Y. C. His buddies on the football team saw him when they played Xavier this season, as he was then stationed in Cincinnati.

Eddie Willard is overseas, Coach Tom Conley got a letter from him the other day with an A.P.O. box number on it. He's with the Marines in the capacity of lieutenant. Ted Lemppes, former football star, is a seaman in the Coast Guard, along with "Frannie" Hughes, star of yesteryear. Stan Legan, lieutenant in the Marines, also claimed a championship in boxing as well as being a hard-hitting football player. Sam Marcus, recently engaged, is on leave after receiving his gold ensign stripe from Naval training at Northwestern. Al Iacobucci is a sergeant in the Army physical division. Vince DeJulius is a lieutenant "driving" one of Uncle Sam's fighters in the Air Force. Ed Sheridan, captain of '41's football squad is overseas as a corporal in the Army. "Tony" Byrne's a first lieutenant, and is in the Pacific war zone, seeing plenty of action. Tony's been wounded once, but has returned to action. Those marines won't stay down!

Jack Murray is an Ensign in the Navy and will probably see action soon. High stepping Carl Estenik is a Corporal in the Coast Artillery, and is pro-

The committee arranging the dance consists of co-chairmen Bob Cleary and Vic Walsh, ably assisted by Jim Mayer, Bill Brugharman, Al Francesconi, and Jack Elliott. Committee members have been hampered in their preparations for the dance by the difficulty they have had in estimating how many students will be able to attend. The calling of the ERC's has made it necessary to cancel plans for holding the dance at a downtown hotel. The hard working committee has, however, been able to secure the services of a good band and to sell enough tickets to make the affair a success.

The annual promenade has long been a tradition at Carroll. In 1920 the promenade first became recognized. Since then, it has been a night of subdued laughter and lilting melodies—a night that is remembered long after it is gone. In 1939 Ray McGorray was prom king. Then captain of the basketball team, Ray is now a Lieutenant in the U. S. Army. That year, dancing was to the melodic strains of Russ Morgan's "music in the Morgan manner." Those of us who attended the dance last year remember the crowd of 600 which crowded the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Statler. Bill Dowling was king, and dancing was to the clever arrangements and "boogie beat" of Will Bradley.

We can't have a big prom this year, but we can all come to the Victory Prom in the Carroll Gym. Where a dance is held isn't the important thing, the spirit of the crowd is. No Carroll man who is able to come should miss the Victory Prom.

bably getting himself plenty muscle-bound working with those "pea-shooters" Bill Dempsey is a hardworking private in the Army and his buddy, Al Markus is also a private in the Marines. He is, however, reported headed for a commission in that branch. Freddy Fanelly is clowning around the Coast Artillery, boasting a gold bar on his shoulder. Johnny Freedman, an ensign in the Navy, is on sea duty, while his team-mate, Bill Corbett, is a corporal in the Army Medical Corps.

Diminutive Larry Ricilli, hoop-star, is in the ERC's while his old team-mate Gerry Kearney, is learning to fly with the Army. Bob Byrne, Ed Posipanka, and Ray Knapp are in the Marines. Army and Navy respectively.

Last year's frosh who held prominent places on the varsity football team and who are now in service are: Julius Sukys, ERC; Ray Traynor, Merchant Marine; Jim Hogue, John Gallagher, Frank Tercek, and Stan Cofall are all in the Army.

This isn't, of course, a complete list of Carroll's Battling Bluestreaks. We get additional information daily, from all parts of the country, and it's gratifying to find out that wherever the boys are, they're doing a great job. We would like to print every name but, it's impossible at this time. We can, however, wish all of the boys the best of luck and Godspeed, and remind them that "We want to see you win, Gold and Blue."

Marquette Dean Is Retreat Master Here

The Reverend Raphael N. Hamilton, S. J., dean of the graduate school, Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, was retreat master for the annual student spiritual retreat, which was held in the school chapel last week Monday through Wednesday.

Father Hamilton proved himself a capable retreat master and was well liked by those making the retreat. A natural story teller, Fr. Hamilton possesses a speaking competence which enables him to get a difficult point across, in a pleasant and skillful manner.

The retreat closed Wednesday at 3:00 p.m., with the Papal Blessing and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

SCIENCE NOTES

Malaria's Threat

Malaria is potentially a greater world wide menace during the present war than ever before, according to Dr. Lowell T. Coggeshall of the University of Michigan school of public health. Methods of malaria control thus far developed have not succeeded in removing malaria as a world problem, Dr. Coggeshall asserts.

Dr. Coggeshall, who directed a highly successful battle to free the African airplane ferry route of disease, says there is such a close association between war and increased malaria that the term "war malaria" is justified. In addition, he points out that the present war has introduced several factors which greatly increase the potential menace of malaria.

Foremost of these factors is location of troops in some of the most disease-ridden countries of the world. The army's medical officers realize the danger and are making the best possible use in combat zones of nets, insecticides, sprays and suppressive drugs to curb the infection, Dr. Coggeshall says. But he feels it will be very difficult to reduce the excessive malaria rate now being experienced since many of the most effective control measures are not possible on the battle fronts.

Air transportation has put the United States within 60 hours of any part of the globe, Dr. Coggeshall points out, and a large part of this air traffic is originating in malarious areas. Infected persons could be transported to malaria-free areas before the disease could be detected, he says, and the danger that mosquito carriers can be brought in on the planes is present despite careful spraying with insecticides.

While damage caused by malaria to troops in infected areas is serious enough, Dr. Coggeshall says this is only an initial step in a chain of events that is likely to create a more serious disaster. Epidemics can result from the return of infected troops to malaria-free areas, he declares, pointing to secondary outbreaks of malaria in England and Germany following the last war. At the present time, he warns we can expect more serious outbreaks if for no other reason that the increased number of infected cases.

Should outbreaks develop due to infections, Dr. Coggeshall says a prompt all-out effort by local, federal and state authorities could avert a spread of the disease.

As for a long term policy, Dr. Coggeshall says more training centers must be provided and opportunities for fundamental research.

Capacity Crowd Sees Carroll Boxing Show

The John Carroll Athletic Association presented its tenth annual boxing show before a near capacity crowd on April 24th.

Of the eleven bouts staged, three were stopped before the three round limit. Al Francesconi tagged Mike Sweetey with a fast right upper-cut in the second round and the fight was halted by the referee lest Mike be seriously injured. Francesconi, a real fancy-dan with the mitts, gets terrific power with short jabs, hooks, and upper cuts.

Tom Kennedy out-pointed Bill Kraitz with his hard rights. Pete Palumbo, now at Camp Perry, had Jud Whalen go down after the second frame but Jud hung on to the finish.

In a very close battle, Tony Sparacino defeated Dick Zeino. Jack Moran won from Jack Webb, who is to be commended for even entering the ring after it had been discovered that he had a bad ticker. Bill Ennen, minus a shoe, was technically kayoed by Lou Candella, whose right jabs kept Ennen from displaying his usual finesse. Freshman Ed Corrigan won over Jack Farley but the former was a little too tough for the lanky sophomore. Frank "fibber" McGee defeated Tom Hennessey in a close struggle. Tom started slowly and finished strong, but lacked the hay-maker to salvage a victory. Bill Kiedio out punched southpaw Tom Fabor.

Serving under 3 flags for the glory of One

Ohio Bell employees recognize three major duties in the war effort.

First, they are maintaining telephone service on American standards of speed and dependability to insure the prompt completion of the vast volume of calls needed to build planes, tanks and guns for our armed forces and to administer war activities.

Secondly, they are contributing their energy, skill and lives as members of the fighting forces. More than 1,300 Ohio Bell men and women are now in the services, many of whom volunteered to use their technical training as members of the Signal Corps.

Thirdly, they are good citizens. They are actively engaged in civilian war work and every pay day they invest 10% of their basic pay in War Bonds.

Ohio Bell employees know they must continue to fulfill these three obligations—service to the public, service in the armed forces and good citizenship—to do their share for Victory.
